Jiggers, "Get yours!"

Amos Sharpe, postmaster at Sharpe, recently purchased a Maxwell touring car from the Linn garage.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Little autotied to Belfast township last Sunday to see Mr. Scott Bumgarner who is very ill.

Four stings on one thumb is the price paid by W. Scott Brant for the re-capture of a swarm of bees last week. A swarm in May is worth a load of hay—so they say.

HIDES.—Frank B. Sipes pays the highest market price for beef hides at their butcher shop in McConnellsburg, also highest price paid for calf skins sheepskins and tallow.

An automobile party composed of Carl O. Grissinger, Walter Watson, Miss Olive Black, Miss Otta Morrell, and Miss Zula Bell—all of Broadtop City, motored to McConnellsburg Monday evening, spent the night at the Fulton House, and Tuesday visited the battlefield at Gettysburg.

Spurgeon Milton Keeney, assistant Professor of English at Gettysburg College, was the week-end guest of Rev. and Mrs. Edward Jackson. Prof. Keeney won the Rhoads scholarship for Pennsylvania this year, and next fall, he will enter Oxford University, England, for a term of three years.

Hohman & Grissinger have installed in their meat market a modern refrigerator sufficient in size to hold many carcasses during hot weather. Bert says he will guarantee that after the toughest old ox stays in there a few hours, the meat will become as tender as the gizzard of a gosling—ten years old.

Mr. and Mrs. John K. Rhoads, near Mercersburg, are celebrating the sixth anniversary of their wedding to-day. Mrs. Rhoads was Fannie Kendall, of Big Cove. Accordingly, Russell Glazier and the Duffy boys will put their autos at the service of as many friends as can ride in them and all will go over the mountain to the Rhoads home, to take part in the joyous occasion.

With fat cattle selling for 91 cents that cost but 61 cents last fall, farmers who have wrestled with cows the long winter thru to take just what creamery men care to give for milk are beginning to sit up and take notice. In southern Lancaster county, where the creamery business has gravitated back into the hands of milk monopolists and farmers declare they are being imposed upon by creamery men, the production of milk will be greatly lessened, as many farmers, disgusted with the hard work of milking and caring for cows, will turn their attention to feeding steers.

Nicely Remembered.

On Wednesday of last week, George Glunt and his daughter Velma were called from home on various pretexts, and when they returned they found their home in the possession of about eighty friends and neighbors. In addition, nearly that many baskets were in sight. Excitement ran high for a few minutes until it was explained that May 24th was the 42nd anniversary of George's birth and the 11th for Velma—a double birthday surprise for them being the intention.

The musicians for the occasion were: John Martz with his gramophone; Messrs. Mathias, Baldwin Regi, and Cooper with the violin, autoharp, guitar and harmonica. After two hours of entertainment all repaired to the lawn where elegant and abundant refreshments were served. Father and daughter each received numerous nice presents.

To Stop Fires.

Acting under the new forest protection code, the Chief Forest Fire Warden is bringing to the attention of the Attorney General every case where there is the slightest chance of taking legal action against those who are suspected of having started forest fires this spring.

In one case a forest fire was started by sparks from the engine of a sawmill operating near McConnellsburg. The owner of the mill did not wait for a warrant to be served, but at once settled all costs and damage, and promised to give the time of himself and his crew whenever they are needed to extinguish a forest fire in the future.

Brush burning on windy days is reported as having caused forest fires near Honey Grove, Bellefonte, and Emporium. In each case the fires were traced by the forest employees to those who burned the brush, and amicable settlements have been made out of court.

Many other similar cases are cited showing that it is easy to trace fires and prosecute those responsible.
